Teamsters' Union Ends Trusteeship For Locals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Teamsters Union has announced 63 local unions, out of a total of 104 in trusteeship six months ago, have been restored to self-government or are in the process of regaining self-rule.

The 63 locals being allowed to elect their own officers encompass some 89,656 members. The locals under trusteeship six months ago comprised some 143,510 members, or 97 per cent of the national union membership.

The Teamsters were criticized in Senate Rackets Investigating Committee hearings last year for keeping too many locals too long under trusteeship of top union bosses, particularly James R. Hoffa, who became national president in January.

The Teamsters said the following locals have been taken out of trusteeship since the first of the year:

Local 171, Roanoke, Va.; 333, Baltimore; 789, Fairmont, W. Va.; 822, Norfolk, Va.; and 876, Salisbury, Md.

Michigan Auto Tags Will Keep Present Slogan

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan has decided to keep the "Water Wonderland" slogan on its auto license plates for another three years.

The state was considering changing the slogan recently and scores of citizens sent letters suggesting new slogans.

A Royal Oak man, disgruntled by the recession and its effects on the state's economy, proposed: "Michigan, Land of the Unemployed."

East Pelted By Showers, Heat Broken

By The Associated Press

Showers and cooler weather extended across broad areas in the Eastern half of the nation today. More rain fell in the Far Northwest.

Thunderstorms and showers hit the Atlantic Coast states during the night in the wake of 60-degree temperatures from Florida and Gulf Coast into southern New England.

Nearly an inch of rain splashed Washington, D.C., and Binghamton, N.Y., in a six-hour period. Showers were reported in scattered areas from Virginia southward into northern Florida.

A second wet belt stretched from the Western Great Lakes region into eastern Texas and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Thunderstorms and a d tornado winds hammered parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas last night.

A tornado struck rural areas south and east of Midlothian, in central Texas, injuring 11 persons and damaging nearly a score of homes. Hail and heavy rains hit sections of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Georgia. Hail stones measuring up to two inches in diameter pelted the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Woman Driver Gives Signal, Loses Jewelry

CLEVELAND (AP)—A woman told police last night that a man snatched a diamond ring and wrist watch she was wearing when she extended her arm from her car signaling a left turn.

Mrs. Ray L. Maylin, 37, of suburban Cleveland Heights, said she had stopped for a traffic light and had her left arm out for the turn when a man grabbed her arm and stripped the jewelry from her. She valued it at $800.

Mrs. Maylin said the man then got into a car and drove off.

Knowland Urges New Water Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) challenged congressional Democrats today to drop their fight against a veto and get behind a water projects bill President Eisenhower can approve.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said he does not believe Democrats can muster the required two-thirds vote to override Eisenhower's veto last week of the 1 1/2-billion-dollar authorization measure.

Senate leaders made no move to bring the issue to an immediate vote. Instead, the vetoed bill was sent to the Senate Public Works Committee.

Bid To 'Settle' Strike Rejected

WASHINGTON (INS)—A Philadelphia bakery executive told Senate rackets probes today he "emphatically" rejected a 1955 bid to "settle" a strike involving teamsters and there other unions with a $50,000 payoff.

Daniel J. Hanlon, of Drexel Hill, Pa., assistant to the president of Horn and Hardart Baking Co., said the settlement offer was made through an intermediary by an individual identified only as "Shorty" Feldman, an official of Teamsters Local 929.

Star Editor Again Heads Press Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of The Associated Press have re-elected all six directors whose terms had expired.

The directors re-elected Monday are Benjamin M. McKelway, Washington Sunday Star, who also is president of The Associated Press; John R. Reitemeyer, Hartford (Conn.) Courant; Richard W. Clarke, New York Daily News & Sun; News; W. H. Cowles, Spokane Spokesman-Review; Nathaniel R. Howard, Cleveland News; and Raymond L. Spangler, Redwood City (Calif.) Tribune.

Spangler, a director for cities of less than 50,000 population, received 7,538 votes to 1,937 for Frank Jenkins, Klamath Falls (Ore.) Herald and News.

Other votes for directors were: McKelway, 9,086; Reitemeyer, 7,777; Clarke, 7,333; Cowles, 7,186; Howard, 6,428; Robert Bunnelle, Asheville (N.C.) Citizen, 1,632; Edward E. Lindsay, Decatur (Ill.) Herald, 2,029; Frank S. Hoag Jr., Pueblo (Colo.) Chieftain, 1,638; Buell W. Hudson, Woonsocket (R.I.) Call and Evening Times, 2,068.

The men voted on were nominated by the AP's nominating committee last Jan. 21. The Board of Directors has 18 members. The members are chosen for three-year terms, with the terms of six expiring each year.

Democratic

Sen. Church (D-Idaho) referred to a colleague, Sen. Bible (D-Nev.), to claim "the cause of righteousness" for the Democrats, adding: "We have both a Bible and a Church in the Senate and we're prepared to give 'em hell."

All of which led Sen. Ervin (D-NC) to remark that heaven was the place for "angels and all Democrats."

Most of the cracks, for obvious reasons, were directed at the Republicans as more than a score of senators were called on to speak for a minute or less.

Former President Truman, noting that the restriction was rigidly observed, commented that any group which could keep so many normally talkative senators "confined to speaking one sentence can do anything in the world."

Rising Costs In Newspaper Industry Cited At Session Of U. S. Publishers

NEW YORK (AP)—Many American newspapers are caught in an economic squeeze because rising costs are not being matched with additional income, William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today.

This crisis, he added, can be met only by increased productivity, which in turn depends on enlightened management and labor leadership.

Dwight, publisher of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, made the remarks in a prepared address of welcome at an ANPA session to publishers with newspapers having circulations of 10,000 to 50,000 a day.

Sessions of the ANPA are part of Newspaper Week, held in New York every spring.

Dwight called upon the publishers to "discard temporary expediency thinking" and to take a positive and realistic look to the future.

Publishers will continue to press their crusade to protect the people's right to know, Dwight said, despite consideration by the government of interference with advertising and the thwarting of access to news.

ANPA Vice President D. Tennant Bryan, of the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch & News Leader, said publishers are facing a situation in which costs are continuing to rise while revenues are static or going down.

This, he said, is having a dramatic impact on the net profit.

River Pollution Feared

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Board of Natural Resources has heard a warning that the Patuxent River may become badly polluted by new housing developments and industry.

"The people of Calvert County are very concerned about this," said Maurice T. Lusby Jr., board member of Prince Frederick. "We don't want the Patuxent to become another Potomac River."

Lusby gave his opinions yesterday at the monthly meeting of the board. He singled out a new housing development planned for the former William Woodward estate (Bel Air) in Prince Georges County and a proposed Potomac Edison Power Plant at Benedict.

Lusby said that even if the sewerage is treated it will add to the pollution content already in the Patuxent from Laurel, Ft. Meade and a plastics plant at Odenton.

The board passed a resolution expressing "grave and deepening concern about the effect of industrial and residential expansion on the natural resources of Maryland."

The statement urged responsible agencies and the public to insist that housing and industrial developments "be accompanied by fully adequate provisions for elimination."

Two deeds involving local property were filed yesterday in the land records office of the court house. The property was sold to the State of Maryland for use by the SRC.

John C. Rodenhauser and his wife, Josephine Rodenhauser sold property located on the northwest side of Ann Street (now Central Avenue.)

In the other transaction, land on the southwest corner of Virginia Avenue and Laing Avenue was deeded to the SRC by Elizabeth B. Landis and her husband, Eugene C. Landis, John A. Hammersmith, widower, William F. Hammersmith and his wife, Edith Hammersmith, Elizabeth E. Catherman and her husband Charles S. Catherman Jr.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Not Slogans Alone

THERE IS GOOD reason to believe that America could think its way out of the recession, if only a concerted, unpolitical attack could be made on the problem. By this is meant simply that the right kind of rational action could arrest the economic downturn. To deny this is to succumb to the idea that our economy is the pawn of blind, unyielding forces beyond human control. But thinking our way out of the recession is not to be confused with talking our way out of it. There is serious doubt whether the latter method, now being widely advanced as an economic cure-all, will work.

TO SAY THIS is not to discount entirely the value of positive thinking. It is true that going about with long faces is not going to do much good. It may also be true that the song writer's advice to "accentuate the positive" will have some beneficial effect by stimulating some people to buy. Yet to place our faith in slogans and exhortations to spend, spend, spend would not only be foolish but dangerous. If business is ailing, what possible good can be done by having men wear breast pocket handkerchiefs embroidered with "Business Is Great"?

IF THE MAIN economic news is bad, who gains by ignoring it and playing up the scraps of good news available? There is nothing wrong with telling the good news, but there is something decidedly wrong about ignoring the bad. The dangers in this approach are not hard to find. For one thing, if the shouters of glad slogans grow too strident, a lot of people may conclude that the recession is a lot worse than they had supposed. For another thing, if we concentrate on "selling confidence" to the extent of not trying to work out real solutions for real problems, we may miss the boat entirely. Slogans are no substitute for thought.

When Tracks Met

THE PAST GLORIES of Promontory, Utah, are to be revived for a single day. On May 10 the event which in 1869 made Promontory for a time one of the best known towns in the United States is to be re-created. This was the completion of the first railroad to the Pacific. For years the Central Pacific (now the Southern Pacific) had been extending its route east, while the Union Pacific was working westward. Daily records of the track laying were published in all leading newspapers. Finally at Promontory, 1026 miles west of the Mississippi River and 690 miles east of Sacramento, the lines met. Leland Stanford, governor of California, president of the Union Pacific and founder of the university which bears his name, had the honor of driving home the golden spike which joined the roads. Promontory's glory was shortlived. The Central Pacific bought Union trackage to Ogden, which became the junction used. A cutoff across Great Salt Lake replaced the route through Promontory, which in 1940 was finally abandoned. The depot, roundhouse and hotel vanished long ago. On May 10 the past will live again for a time. Who would have supposed in 1869 that within less than a century railroads would be fighting for their lives against the truck and the plane?

Foods For Thoughts

ALPHABET SOUP has been around a long time. So have animal crackers. Now there is an alphabet cereal on the market. These and other gustatory aids to education are doubtless here to stay. We're a little disappointed, though, at the lack of imagination shown by the food manufacturers. Alphabets and animals are all right as a starter, but what of the future? In an age of differential equations and space flights, are these enough? We submit that the inevitable next steps should be taken at once. Mathematics is important. Why not mathematical symbol soup, or cookies stamped with logarithms? Language is important. Why not French word crackers, or Chinese alphabet soup? We can't afford to fall behind the Russians in this field.

Depression Cures Seem Doomed To Fail

NEW YORK — Much of the current patent medicine approach in and out of government to end the recession is destined for frustration because it is based on trying to coerce, instead of persuading, the customer to buy.

Thus, if there is any logic behind former President Truman's scheme to plan a big budgetary deficit through cutting taxes by $5 billion while upping Federal expenditures, it is the expectation that such fiscal recklessness will generate a new inflationary cycle.

On this basis it is assured that the prospect of further shrinkage in the buying power of the dollar will force people to spend rather than to save or hesitate. Likewise, much private agitation for "buy now" campaigns assumes that the public can be regimented by ballyhoo rather than by hard-boiled appraisal of where their self-interest lies.

SINCE THE competitive system is motivated by what the individual interprets as his own enlightened self-interest, current merchandising should be related to the facts of life. Such selling will be recognized by customers as based on valid reasons.

For example, the current big inventory of automobiles in the hands of dealers makes this a highly opportune time to negotiate terms for trading an old car for a new one. If, as is widely anticipated, the trend again turns upward late this year, the future will be less opportune than now for getting a bargain.

This same logic is applicable to other consumer durable goods and household equipment, which is currently moving sluggishly.

LIKEWISE, in intangibles, such as common stocks, it is futile to try to merchandise blue sky doctrine about economic stability. The interesting phase to analytical buyers is the extent to which the heavy break in stock prices since last Summer has discounted the worst, and has made prime issues a good investment based on current reappraisal of basic asset value, deflated earning power and capacity to continue dividends.

In the same spirit, business executives, with a capacity to face realities, will be exploring the opportunities growing out of the recession. These include a sharp markdown in raw material prices. This is one answer to the way out of the overall profit squeeze.

SECONDLY, the reversal of Federal Reserve policy has changed tight and unavailable money into readily available money at favorable interest rates. On capital goods, suppliers are less rushed and are in a mood to give better service and perhaps in some instances better prices on basic capital improvements which will eventually be ordered.

To wait until general emotions change concerning the future would make as much sense as going to Coney Island on Sunday to buck the crowd instead of going on Monday when the vendors would welcome a customer.

THIS approach which I recommend is based on respect for the intelligence and common sense of the customer.

It relates to my diagnosis that the recession symptoms evidence a new, if unspoken, mandate from customers for better values.

Yet curiously at a time when some products have been virtually priced out of the market, management is sitting down with unions to discuss the advisability of adding to costs through new collective bargaining agreements. And in the depressed and relatively inactive steel industry, a five per cent wage rate increase is in the offing under the existing long term contract.

AMERICAN Enterprise Association has just brought out a timely series of essays by economists under the title "Labor Unions and Public Policy." One of the contributors, Professor Edward H. Chamberlin, Harvard economist, who strikes the keynote, evidently is not running for Congress this Fall. For he pulls no punches.

Chamberlin concludes: "The writer believes that unions, like business corporations, are 'here to stay.' But also, like business corporations, they can be subjected to social control."

"At one time laborers did not have the freedom to which they were entitled to form unions and to bargain collectively; and the economic power of those unions which existed, although important, did not on the whole menace the economy."

"But this situation no longer obtains. There is abundant evidence that unions today do have too much economic power. When this is the case, the public interest requires that steps be taken to reduce it."

Ike Would Make Research Boss Important

WASHINGTON — (NFA) — Most important new job created in President Eisenhower's proposed Department of Defense reorganization bill would be that of "Director of Defense Research and Engineering." It would be raised to the status of the present secretaries of Army, Navy and Air Force.

This would put the new man on the third level of the Pentagon layer cake, just below Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy — to whom he would report directly — and Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles.

It is notable that the new job carries the title of "director." This is taken to mean "boss."

The job would replace that of assistant secretary of defense for engineering and research. It is now held by Dr. Paul Darwin Foote, 70, a retired vice president of Gulf Oil.

Dr. Foote is now one of eight assistant secretaries of defense who have limited authority. The new bill cuts the number to seven.

WHAT THIS top job shift emphasizes is the increasing importance attached to military research and development.

One other way to gauge it is budgetwise. Five years ago, total appropriations for R. and D., as it's called, was a billion dollars. This year it is 1.8 billion and for next year 2.25 billion have been asked. With unexpended carryovers, R. and D. is now a five-billion-dollar annual operation.

In his last press conference, President Eisenhower said he thought all research money should be appropriated to the secretary of defense. This would enable him "to put all those very, very expensive programs where they could best be carried out by the several services."

This was what the famous Rockefeller committee report of last January recommended.

But it does not seem to be provided for in President Eisenhower's new draft legislation.

THIS BILL would make the new director of research principal adviser to secretary of defense. It would authorize him to "supervise" all research. It would let him "direct" all research the secretary deems to require centralized management.

But these powers would not let the new director of research run all Army, Navy and Air Force research projects. Only those that crossed service lines would have direct appropriation to Department of Defense.

What is apparent here is that the administration is hesitant to make the full jump to centralized Department of Defense control this year. It could be proposed in the 1960 budget, presented next January.

The division of research funds this year is Army, 471 million dollars; Navy, 641 million; Air

Halted, But Still Smiling

NEW YORK — Gertrude Ederle, a heroine a quarter-century ago when she was the first woman to swim the English channel is today stone deaf. She also lives a large portion of her life in pain from nerve spasms, the result of a fall in 1933 which paralyzed her spine for nearly five years. Only two weeks ago a gas heater exploded in her face and burned away part of her hair.

"I'm really the lucky one," Gertrude told me. "Oh, I'm so lucky. I shouldn't be walkin' around at all, all that's happened, but here I am, fit as anything. Except for a small cold."

MISS EDERLE, a great woman in size and buoyancy, eased herself into a straight-backed chair and grinned. "People say, what's ever happened to Gert Ederle? All these opportunities she had when she swam the Channel, with the ticker tape parade and all, why didn't she take advantage of them?"

"Well, all I can say is I've been busy."

"I was partly deaf, maybe you know, from a case of measles when I was five. I shouldn't've been swimmin', but you can't tell a kid anything. I was just 19 when I swam the Channel — boy, and don't I remember that day like it was yesterday! — and I was fine."

"BUT THEN, I went on a tour, and after two years of traveling around the country, swimmin' every hour on the hour, I just suddenly got too much. I went deaf. For eight months, I lived in a quiet world all by myself. I made a comeback, though, and could hear a little, and I tried to get myself a job teaching children to swim here in New York City."

"You know what?" Miss Ederle's round, laugh-lined face took on a child's puzzled look. "They wouldn't let me because of my hearing. That hurt me, more than anything. I always loved children and worry about them. Every summer, my heart gets broken anew, reading about children drownin'. They don't have to be expert swimmers, but they've got to know how to hold their own. . . . But that's another story."

"Anyway, I didn't get the job."

THE GENTLE tomboy of the '20's went deaf again, and permanently, in 1940. But by that time hearing aids had been discovered. She now teaches swimming, on a volunteer basis, to children at the Lexington School for the Deaf, and hopes desperately to be appointed to President Eisenhower's "Youth Fitness Council."

In 1933, she fell and injured her spine, was told she'd never walk again. She wore a cast and slept on the floor, for four and a half years. "But that was nothin'," she said. "When I heard the World's Fair was gonna have a swimming feature, I just got well. Gee, they couldn't do that without me. I learned to swim all over again."

MISS EDERLE's triumphant Channel swim in 1926, which led to a ticker tape parade up Broadway and $900,000 in endorsements plus a $6,000 a week tour that lasted two years until her deafness, is still a delight to dwell on.

Not only was she the first woman and first American to conquer the Channel, she beat the record time by more than two hours, fighting 15-foot waves during 14 hours of the way. She claims to have been "hilariously happy" all the way.

And when she climbed out on the English shore they asked her how she felt. "Wet," she said.

HOLLYWOOD is planning a movie of Gertrude Ederle's life story. However hard they try, it will have to be a soap opera. Because that's Gert's history.

Asked if she cares that the public has forgotten her whereabouts, she smiles. "I don't care if they've forgotten me — I haven't forgotten them."

Truckers Loyal To Brass

WASHINGTON—Looks like I'm in the wrong business: my own private labor union could be more profitable.

I'd operate it like Local 107 of the Teamsters union in Philadelphia, and when those nosy Senators here in Washington called in my truck drivers to testify about what happened to the money—gobs of money in the form of cash—they'd love me so much they wouldn't talk.

The expensively tailored, carefully manicured Ray Cohen is undisputed boss of Local 107. This has 14,000 members, who pay dues of $5 each a month. This runs to $70,000 every month, or $840,000 a year, and that isn't hay.

Force, 719 million; Department of Defense, 425 million — the smallest of the lot.

This cautious approach to greater coordination in all U.S. defense efforts typifies the purpose of the new Pentagon reorganization plan. The big idea is to get ready to fight a missile war.

CURIOSLY enough, however, this meets the same objections that have been raised ever since the late Gen. Leonard Wood first proposed an Army chief of staff back in the 1900's. There is an inherent fear of creating an American "man on horseback" — in this case the secretary of defense — with so much authority that he might seize power.

On top of this there is strong congressional opposition to any surrender of its powers to appropriate money for the separate armed forces. Service rivalries stir up this feeling.

President Eisenhower's proposed legislation falls short in many respects of the eight major recommendations in the Rockefeller report.

But the President's bill goes much farther than the congressional bill on Pentagon reorganization introduced by Rep. Carl Vinson, Sen. Mike Mansfield and others.

This latter bill would cut the office of secretary of defense from 1,600 to 600 employees and reserve for Congress the right to prescribe roles of the armed services.

The coming fight in Congress will be drawn along these lines.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—The average husband, thumbing through his wife's style gazettes, is convinced that most fashion models are human beanpoles in need of a blood transfusion.

One of his constant fears is that his wife, wearing the same clothes, will come home looking that way, too—that is, rather like a basketball center in skirts.

Somewhat word got around recently that the new sack would change all this. The rumor spread that fashion models now would look less like a vertical clothes line and more like, well, Marilyn Monroe.

We have checked this rumor with Mrs. Roz O'Rourke Foy, an authority in such matters, and she says she can't understand how such a falsehood ever got started.

"A FASHION model definitely still must be slim," said Mrs. Foy. "She can't be voluptuous—along Marilyn Monroe's lines. Marilyn Monroe indeed! Why, she'd definitely flop as a fashion model. There's simply too much of her. No doubt of it!"

Mrs. Foy, who regards fashion models as willows, gets her Irish up if someone in her hearing refers to them as strolling thermometers, or implies that an extra inch or so of padding in the right place wouldn't do them any harm.

"Good legs are tremendously important. A girl with bad legs is just out of luck."

"The ideal measurements for a fashion model, I'd say, are 34-inch bust, 23-inch waist, and 34-inch hips. But of course, she should wear a corset to pull her in about two inches at the waist, in the same manner as the surcingle on a horse."

She did offer one crumb of hope. A fellow who takes a fashion model out on a date doesn't have to worry so much about low bridges.

"On the average, I would say they aren't quite so tall," she acknowledged. "Years ago 5 feet 8½ seemed to be the standard. Now the most popular size is between 5 feet 5½ and 5 feet 7½. But it is probably only because the taller girls are in short supply."

Really top models always seem to be in short supply, she added, explaining:

"It takes at least five years for a girl to become a really polished model."

MODELS MAKE from $25 an hour up to $50 or more and, theoretically at least, can earn up to $30,000 a year. Oddly enough, the greatest occupational disease of fashion models isn't the wrinkles of age—it's sore feet.

"They have to stand up as long as a salesgirl," said Mrs. Foy, "and many just can't bear up under the foot punishment. Their shoes become torture chambers."

"Yet I know some models who are still making a good living at 45, although I'm sure they'd rather than admit they're that old."

What eventually happens to fashion models?

"What eventually happens to everybody?" replied Mrs. Foy, reasonably enough.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — An Olympian battle now is shaping up between Outer Space and Inner Soul. The conflict, which has heroic warriors on both sides, will decide whether a site opposite the National Gallery of Art becomes an air museum or a cultural center.

Girding up their loins for Inner Soul are such champions of culture as "Aunt Marjorie" Post, the breakfast cereal heiress, and Perle Mesta, who possibly needs less introduction. For Outer Space are Senator Clinton P. Anderson, of New Mexico, and virtually all of the high flying brass.

Caught in the middle is Senator Pat McNamara, of Michigan, who is both soulful and spacious, but not notorious as a patron of the arts. Pat is the gravelly-voiced ex-labor union official you have heard championing the unions on the racket probe telecasts.

But, even if Pat thinks a "lively art" is Postmaster General Art Summerfield trying to leap over a postal deficit, he is still chairman of the Senate Public Buildings Subcommittee, which is seeking to resolve the Air versus Art squabble.

The former unioner says he has an open mind as between an air museum and a cultural center, but the betting is that he will wind up with a closed circuit.

AIDING AND abetting our cultural matrons are such cultured gentlemen as Senator J. William Fulbright, of Arkansas, and Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., of New Jersey. They have introduced bills for a "National Capital Center of the Performing Arts Act."

I hope Chairman McNamara is not bewildered or bewitched by the term, "Performing Arts," but I'm afraid he may think it means that Art Summerfield has teamed up in a vaudeville act with Presidential Assistant Art Larson.

Sensor Fulbright will probably know differently, because you don't get to have a scholarship named after you by eschewing culture. Rep. Thompson, of course, is absolutely full of art; even his political foes say he is artful. And who, in our lively community, has not beheld the Mesdames Post and Mesta in the performing arts?

THESE CULTURE lovers declare it is shameful that the capital of the nation doesn't have a cultural center, or even an opera house. I am inclined to agree because I have beheld attempts at staging performances in Constitution Hall, and they invariably were a mess. Constitution Hall has no real stage, just a bandstand, and no wings in which an opera singer or actor may wait on cue.

Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" was staged there recently, and although it had Tyrone Power and Faye Emerson, it was a turkey for lack of stage facilities. The stars became ludicrous, waiting in open sight of everyone, to make "surprise" entrances.

The pitch of the Outer Spacers for an air museum to house space exhibits is being countered by the culture champions with cultured blasts that the thing we need least is another air museum. They point out that one already is in operation at Wright Air Force Base, Dayton, O. and another is going up at the Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The battle lines are drawn between air-mindedness and high-mindedness. I only hope now that Chairman McNamara does not confuse the "performing arts" with President Eisenhower's artistic performance at the opening ball game.

Get More Out Of Your Newspaper-2: Three Techniques Assist In Reading

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Despite the fact that this newspaper is designed to present highly readable and easily understandable news, it's a good bet you're missing a lot. Not just you. Most Americans are fearfully slow readers who end up comprehending less than 70 per cent of what they read. The reason: our reading skills usually stop at the sixth grade. The solution: learn a few tricks. This series of stories will help you get more out of the Cumberland Evening Times in less time. Stories have been put together

Skimming Out the Main Facts

If you're skimming only to find one or two particular pieces of information in the news item you're reading (what her mother wore, the amount of the pay rise, etc.), do it this way:

Zig-zag down the paragraph by letting your eyes stop at the places where these black dots appear. Skimming will eventually bring you to the 12-cent wage rise.

If your skimming indicates a thorough reading is in order, you can mark the article for a return engagement at your leisure.

According to the Reading Laboratory, whose scientific diagnosis of its thousands of students has pinpointed America's reading flaws there are three techniques you should begin with: Pre-reading, skimming and skipping.

Pre-reading, as the word implies, is a bird's eye view of the story that lets you know immediately:

Your interest. If the topic of the article does not arouse your curiosity, you can save time by skipping it.

Your ability. Depending on the subject and its direction, you can plan your reading and thinking speed. If it's over your head, you can skip it until you get help.

The story's skeleton. Knowing the main structure of the article for pre-reading. There is an index of topics. Stories about standard events are usually in the same place every day. And when there are several stories about the same or related news, you'll find them near each other.

The people who report, write and edit your paper have your pre-reading in mind as they work. Headlines give you the topic.

The first several paragraphs give you the capsule report and direction or main points of the story. Each succeeding paragraph gives less important details as the writer goes back to fill in.

It will be less easy to pre-read feature stories, reviews or editorials because they have been designed to take you from beginning to end. Usually, the headline and first several paragraphs will either lead you along or leave you cold.

It is important, reading experts warn, not to lag in your pre-reading. It's merely a quick once-over and wasting time on it destroys its effectiveness.

Once your pre-reading has led you to a curiosity about further detail, you have the framework of the story — a tool that will allow you to skim, as shown in the accompanying chart.

Regardless of what your sixth grade teacher said, skimming is reading — but not thorough reading. Here's how you do it to get the main facts and ideas in the least time.

Read the first sentence of the detail paragraphs. They usually contain the principal statement. Let your eyes swing down the other lines where names, dates, numbers will fill in one or two details.

If the first sentence and these details don't give you the paragraph's message, read the last sentence. Then go on to the next paragraph, approaching it the same way.

Next: Phrase reading.

Two Candidates File For Senate

CHARLESTON (AP) — Two candidates, one from each party, filed today for nomination for the State Senate from the 13th District.

One was incumbent Republican Dayton R. Stemple of RFD 2, Philippi, seeking renomination for his fourth successive term. The Democrat was John Convery of Philippi.

Convery was the first Democrat to file. One Republican, Del. Richard L. Young of Buckhannon, had filed earlier.

SPEAKER — Dr. Henry C. Freimuth (above), toxicologist in the office of the Chief Medical Examiner of Maryland, will speak at a meeting of the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society tomorrow. The affair will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 8 p. m.

Social Security Reports Are Due

Social Security reports on domestic workers for the first quarter of 1958 are due April 30, according to S. Leigh Wolfe, manager of the Cumberland office.

Wolfe stated that under present law most domestic employees, such as gardeners, cooks, maids and housekeepers are covered under Social Security. Employees of these and other household workers must report the cash wages paid and pay the Social Security tax of 4½ percent of the employee's wages. In cases where the domestic employee had earned less than $50 cash in the first quarter, the employer does not have to make any report.

The form used in making the return on household employees may be obtained at the office of the Director of Internal Revenue. Mr. Wolfe added that pamphlets which explain the coverage provisions for domestic employment are free at the Social Security office.

Jury Finds Hagerstown Man Not Guilty

An all-male jury found a Hagerstown man not guilty of assault with intent to rape a married woman last August 7 following a trial yesterday in Circuit Court here. The case had been removed here from Washington County.

Acquitted by the jury after deliberations lasting 45 minutes was William C. Kneisley Jr., 23, who was tried on the same charge here in February. The jury in the previous case could not agree on a verdict.

Kneisley took the stand in his own defense yesterday afternoon. He told the jury he did not know the complaining witness nor was he ever in his apartment.

He admitted he had been drinking the night preceding the alleged assault, which occurred about 2:30 a. m., but had gone to his own home about 1:50 a. m. The complaining witness identified Kneisley in court yesterday as the man she awoke to find standing in the doorway of her bedroom. She also said he tore off her underclothes and tried to assault her.

Mrs. Grace A. Gordon, a next-door neighbor of the Kneisleys, testified that she saw the accused man coming through the backyard of his home about 1:45 a. m. that day.

Kneisley explained to the court that he had been taken into custody by Hagerstown police who testified in the case.

When the verdict of the jury was given in the court room a number of spectators gave a round of applause and order had to be restored.

Man Receives 60-Day Term In County Jail

Also Fined $500 On Obstruction Justice Charge Last October

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris today sentenced Cortez W. Childress, 34, of Potomac Park, to 60 days in the county jail and fined him $500 for obstruction of justice.

Childress was involved in the transportation of two local girls out of the county last October after they had been summoned to appear before the grand jury in connection with liquor law violations of two downtown cocktail lounges.

In passing sentence Judge Harris said:

"I've known Childress for many years. I recall that long before I started to serve on the bench I knew him in my capacity as state's attorney. I tried everything I knew to get him to make good.

Someone Provided Money
"I referred him to the Cumberland Police Boys Club and after he became an adult he came back to help the recreational program of the club. I would have felt better had he come into court today and entered a guilty plea and named the principals in the case.

"Someone provided the money and neither Childress nor Earsom (James Edward) were the ones. Childress knows who provided the money and he doesn't have the courage to say who they are. I'm only sorry the principals in the case are not before me today. Both Childress and Earsom were influenced by these principals and both are easily influenced under certain circumstances."

Went To Washington

The two girls, Doris Ralston, 20, and Betty Lou Pryor, 19, testified that on the night of October 7, 1957 they were taken to Green Ridge Mountain with Earsom hauling the Pryor girl in his car and Childress the Ralston girl in his car. Atop the mountain the Ralston girl testified Childress counted out $150 to her and then Earsom drove the two girls to Washington. Childress returned home.

In a case some months ago, Earsom was given 60 days in the county jail and fined $500. He has since completed his sentence. The two girls in the case bought drinks in the Cadillac Lounge and Al's Chateau last summer and in trials in Circuit Court both were found guilty of selling intoxicants to minors. They were fined and later the Liquor Board suspended their licenses for several weeks.

Alumni Group Of Maryland Meets Today

The Allegany County alumni of the University of Maryland will hold a public dinner meeting today at 6:30 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club during which the program for the Greater University of Maryland Fund will be outlined.

The event is not a fund raising program. H. Reford Aldridge, president of the county alumni, stressed, since the project has been in operation since early last winter and will be culminated at the university's commencement exercises in June.

The fund, Aldridge said, will enable the University of Maryland to perform a most important public service and will directly enhance the value of the education of its graduates.

Maryland's people, he pointed out, are the state's greatest natural resource, and their development through the university will be a major factor in the state's development. The fund, Aldridge stated, will enable the university to furnish the "extras" which makes the difference between a good university and a great university.

The program will be in the form of a victory dinner. Aldridge continued, pointing out that the fund project is the first alumni drive the university has ever sponsored. It is open to the public since the fund will directly affect every resident of Maryland.

The principal speaker will be H. A. (Bud) Millikan, assistant director of athletics and basketball coach at the university. He also will show films of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship game between Maryland and North Carolina, won by the Terps.

The committee on arrangements is headed by Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson and includes Thomas N. Berry, John M. Robb, Thomas B. Finan, Dr. Albert C. Cook and Aldridge.

Guests will include Albert C. Corman, assistant to Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university; David Breighman, chairman of the University of Maryland Alumni Fund; Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and member of the university board of regents; and Dr. Albert E. Goldstein, general chairman of the Greater University of Maryland Fund.

Firemen Check Garage Blaze

Firemen from Central Station and West Side last night checked a blaze at the Charles Gurley Garage, 129 North Mechanic Street, shortly after it was spotted by a passerby.

Firemen chopped their way through the ceiling which was ablaze when they arrived and extinguished the flames. They said the fire apparently started from a short circuit in a light in the ceiling.

Attendants at the garage, notified also by the person who discovered the fire, quickly emptied the garage of eight or 10 automobiles and two rigger trucks which were housed there. None of the vehicles were damaged.

Gurley, owner of the garage, said today several thousands of dollars worth of auto parts and equipment was stored in the upstairs part of the building.

County Visited By Specialist In Livestock

Boyd Whittle, livestock specialist from the University of Maryland, inspected a number of livestock farms in Allegany County today.

Meanwhile, the Extension Service at the university has started a number of test plots of alfalfa species in the county, according to Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

The alfalfa test plots have been set out on the Glen Savage Holly farm at Mt. Savage. The include some newer types as well as the creeping type alfalfa, Steger said. The test plots are carefully checked and data obtained guides the Extension Service in its program concerning alfalfa.

Firm Sued By Local Man

Suit for $25,000 damages has been brought in Allegany County Circuit Court by Edward L. Belfour against C. Richard Hollar and George O. Hollar, trading as the Nohi Bottling Company, 301 Springdale Street.

Belfour, who operates the Hi-Dee Tavern and Restaurant at 133 North Mechanic Street, claims in the declaration filed for him by Attorney Thomas N. Berry that the bottling firm delivered soft drinks to his establishment in a negligent manner.

The declaration states that on December 8, 1956 that Belfour was getting a quart bottle of the soft drink from beneath the counter and the bottle of carbonated drink exploded. He claims the fragments of glass struck him and penetrated various parts of his body. He also claims that he was disfigured and incurred hospital and medical expenses and was unable to work.

Dan's Rock Road Repairs Requested

A petition was submitted today to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners asking that repairs be made to the old Dan's Rock Road south of Vale Summit.

The petitioners said the road leads to a cemetery and that some time ago a funeral cortege could not traverse the roadway and it was necessary to transport the casket by a truck.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said he had checked the roadway and the conditions cited are true. The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor.

Beall Again Urges Probe Of Savings Unit

Senator Asserts He Has Received No Answer To Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Beall (R-Md.) told the Senate Monday he is renewing a request for a congressional investigation of the Family Savings and Home Loan Assn., which has offices in several Maryland cities.

Beall said in the Senate last month the company was misleading in its advertisements. After that, he said, he wrote the company for a financial statement, a list of officers, locations where a saver could file a claim against insurance, and for other information.

Receives No Reply
"I regret to say that after nearly three weeks I have received no response whatsoever to my inquiry," Beall added. "None of the questions have been answered, and there is no indication that there will be an answer."

John Gregory Persian, president of the company, said later the firm still is in the process of compiling answers to "the extensive list of questions the senator asked." Persian said Beall's letter would be answered.

"In addition," Gregory continued, "pertinent information on these matters already has been given to the chairman of the Senate banking committee, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.)."

"I also would like to point out," Persian added, "that the statements of the financial conditions of the association and of the American Savings and Loan Indemnity Co., our insuring agent, are available for public inspection."

Wants Further Probe
Beall referred in the Senate Monday to an earlier letter from Persian protesting the senator's original criticism.

"I think it would be wise," Beall added, "to investigate not only this group but also the several other savings firms which advertise that their accounts are 'commercially insured.'"

In his speech last month, Beall said the company has offices in Baltimore, Silver Spring, Suitland, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Elkton, and Frederick, Md.

Chapman To Retire July 31 As County Roads Director

A surprise announcement was made at today's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners when J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor, told the board he was retiring July 31.

Chapman's announcement followed his explanation that he could not undertake setting up the surplus food distribution program in the county as the board had requested last Friday.

Chapman said he believes the food distribution program should be started, but that two months was all the time he had left, taking into consideration the vacation he has coming, and this would not be sufficient.

Details Are Many
He suggested that when the board obtains the list of eligible persons for the position of clerk in the County Roads Department they select one of the men on the list to head up the food distribution plan for the county.

Chapman said arrangement for the program is much more work than most people realize. He said that four months preparatory work went into planning the program several years ago. He pointed out that the commissioners had to meet certain requirements of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Department of Procurement and Budget before the plan can be placed into effect. There are also such matters as storage, transportation and distribution which must be worked out.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson suggested that Harry Skelly, assistant roads supervisor, and Walter Fuller of the Roads Department office be appointed to head the program. Chapman said both men have enough work in their regular duties.

Proposes Wilkinson
Commissioner James Orr repeated a suggestion he made some time ago that Commissioner Wilkinson head up the program. "You have until next December in office," Orr said. Wilkinson said he does not have enough spare time and that with his term of office running out the responsibility rests on the other board members.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said he was under the impression that Chapman would act in an advisory capacity on the food distribution program.

The county board decided to enter into the surplus food program last Friday when four labor leaders appeared and urged that action be taken to assist the needy of the county obtain surplus foods.

Former School Teacher
Chapman resides at Borden Shaft with his wife and son. He attended public schools and graduated from the old State Normal (now Frostburg State Teachers' College) in 1912. He taught school for nine years, before and after World War I. During the first World War he served 36 months with the Marine Corps.

For some years he was employed in the coal mining industry in the Georges Creek section. He also was employed at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Corporation of America and at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

In 1949 he was named bailiff in Circuit Court and in 1950 was appointed purchasing agent in the County Roads Department. About 17 months later he was named supervisor of the department.

Locally, Magistrate Dick is planning to contact a Catholic priest and a member of the Cumberland Ministerial Association to open court with prayer in connection with the observance.

Also expected to participate in the program will be the State's Attorney's Office, Board of Education, Chief of Police, Maryland State Police, representatives of the local high school newspapers and the principals of Cumberland's high schools.

Magistrate Dick said students taking Driver Education in the high school will also attend.

In the proclamation by President Eisenhower he urged the people of the United States to observe the designated day with ceremonies and activities, and urged the legal profession to promote and participate in the observance.

The American Bar Association has adopted a resolution promoting the idea, Magistrate Dick said.

Speaking at Chesapeake City in Cecil County, Mahoney said, "With all respect to Ferd Sybert, the card that I got out comes about because of my long acquaintance and friendship with Millard Tawes."

Mahoney said he supported Tawes regularly since 1946 and in 1950 "regarded him so highly when I ran for governor I didn't have a comptroller on my ticket to oppose him."

Besides endorsing the harmony ticket, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen came out for five Democratic congressional candidates, four of them incumbents. The five are Dan Brewster of Baltimore County, Second District and incumbents Edward A. Garmatz, Third District; George H. Fallon, Fourth District; Lankford, Fifth District; and Samuel N. Friedel, Seventh. The brotherhood made no endorsements in the first or sixth districts.

The first four grades of Pennsylvania Avenue School will present a musical program Thursday at 7:30 p. m., according to Miss Lula M. Blonskey, principal.

The production is under direction of Miss Anita Dickens and the four grade teachers. Approximately 400 students will participate, Miss Blonskey said.

The first graders will present a nursery rhyme, "Miss Tress Mary, Quite Contrary;" the second graders will perform "Three Billy Goats Gruff" in song and rhythm; the third grade will be featured in "The Raggletaggle-town Singers;" and the fourth grade will present the story, "Sleeping Beauty."

Tawes Slate Gets Further Labor Backing

Firemen Brotherhood Announces Support For Harmony Group

By The Associated Press
Another labor group has thrown its support behind the harmony slate of statewide Democratic candidates.

The endorsement by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen came on the heels of similar action, during the week-end, by the Maryland State and District of Columbia AFL-CIO.

The harmony candidates are Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore for U.S. Senate, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes for governor, Senate President Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert for re-election.

Long "People's Candidate"
Dr. Clarence D. Long, seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate, commented yesterday that an endorsement of him by Hyman A. Pressman "carries more weight than all those received by my opponents put together."

Pressman, a frequent critic of the D'Alesandro administration of organization politicians in general, said Long is "the only major candidate who is not supported by a political machine" and the only one to be "truly the people's candidate."

The Baltimore attorney, urging the people to vote for Long in a television address, said, "You won't have to hold your nose this time when you go into that voting booth."

Meanwhile, D'Alesandro told some 300 persons at a rally in the American Legion Hall at Cambridge that some have criticized him as a do-nothing mayor.

Gets Work Done
"But," said D'Alesandro, "Every time I try to make any improvement I get sued. I've been sued more than the 37 other mayors of Baltimore."

He said he was sued 18 times when he pushed for construction of Memorial Stadium, "but I still got the work done."

The rally also was addressed by the three other candidates on the harmony ticket. Tawes told the folks, "I want to bring the Eastern Shore the governorship. The last Eastern Shore governor was from Dorchester County 40 years ago and the Shore is past due for the office."

In Baltimore, James Bruce, seeking the Democratic nomination to the Senate, called two of his opponents desperate — D'Alesandro and George P. Mahoney.

Bruce said Mahoney is running for the Senate out of pique because he could not get on the Tawes ticket. "It was only after he was curbed by the men who formed the so-called harmony ticket that George heard the voice of the people pleading with him to represent them in Washington."

Defends Photograph
Bruce said D'Alesandro was running for the Senate came as an afterthought to him.

Mahoney defended his use of a card with his picture on it and that of Tawes, Sybert had criticized Tawes' action because Tawes—front-running gubernatorial candidate—is allied with D'Alesandro on the harmony slate.

Speaking at Chesapeake City in Cecil County, Mahoney said, "With all respect to Ferd Sybert, the card that I got out comes about because of my long acquaintance and friendship with Millard Tawes."

Mahoney said he supported Tawes regularly since 1946 and in 1950 "regarded him so highly when I ran for governor I didn't have a comptroller on my ticket to oppose him."

Suspect Gets 30-Day Term

FROSTBURG — A 22-year-old local man yesterday was sentenced to 30 days in Allegany County Jail for contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old Eckhart girl.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson of Cumberland imposed the sentence on John William Rae, 237 Center Street, following a hearing in Juvenile Court there.

Rae was arrested by State Police Sgt. William F. Baker, who said last Friday the man assaulted the girl as she was walking home through a wood land short cut from school.

The man ran up behind the girl, grabbed her and carried her into the underbrush. Sgt. Baker stated Rae wanted her to take a drink with him and generally made improper suggestions.

The girl argued and fought the man, Sgt. Baker said, and finally began screaming. Rae then slapped her and ran. She was unarmed except for some bruises and scratches from the underbrush, he added.

In another Juvenile Court case yesterday, Magistrate Anderson continued the probation period for a 14-year-old boy who was charged with violation of his parole. The lad has been guilty of truancy, Magistrate Anderson said, and recently ran away from his foster home.

Magistrate Anderson placed the boy in the custody of his father and told him to be of good general behavior.

Judge See indicated that he felt a crime had been compounded when the youths paid Roderick $500 for his injuries shortly after the accident. The judge's views appear in a supplement to an order appointing Vernon E. Rankin special prosecutor in the case. Rankin was appointed when prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Hott told Judge See he felt a special prosecutor should be named "since there appear to be differences between the court and myself about this case."

The order says in part: "In view of the fact that the judge of this court had learned of certain matters which caused him to suspect there had been a compounding of a crime in connection with this case, or at least an attempt to compound a crime, and the judge of this court having received definite and positive information that there was an attempt to compound a crime in this case, information was given the judge of this court since he made his charge to the grand jury; and one of the attorneys in this case stated to the judge of this court that $500 was paid to Paul Richard Roderick or his attorney, solely for his injuries, doctor bills and attorney fees . . . the court is of the opinion that the testimony of the witnesses before the grand jury be turned over to the special prosecutor and the prosecuting attorney 'so that they may take action or actions as they deem appropriate.'"

The judge said that the testimony before the grand jury, which is usually secret, is being transcribed by the court reporter for study by Rankin and Hott.

Several other selections will be presented. "Let Not Your Song End" will be sung by a girl's sextet consisting of Mary Carter, Patricia Delbrook, Carol Leasure, Susan Phillips, Georgiana Pryor, and Janet Ruffo, accompanied by Carole Bean. A clarinet quartet, composed of Darlene Logue, Janet Nelson, Ronald Harris and Jack Luntner, will play "Alice Blue Gown."

Court Order Indicates Area 'Crime Compounded'

KEYSER — Judge Ernest A. See indicated in an order in Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday that he suspected a "crime had been compounded" in the case of six area young men who were indicted by the grand jury last Tuesday for the dragging of a Piedmont man along the street the night of March 24.

Fred Linaburg, Gary Burgess, Keith Maine, Lynwood Thorne, Francis Zacet and Brian Worthing, ranging in age from 19 to 22, were indicted for assault and battery in the dragging of Paul Roderick, 25, along a street in Piedmont. Some of the youths are reported to have held Roderick while the car they were in sped off.

Judge See indicated that he felt a crime had been compounded when the youths paid Roderick $500 for his injuries shortly after the accident. The judge's views appear in a supplement to an order appointing Vernon E. Rankin special prosecutor in the case. Rankin was appointed when prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Hott told Judge See he felt a special prosecutor should be named "since there appear to be differences between the court and myself about this case."

Kansas City 'Yanks' Having Their Laugh Now

Real Yanks Leading A's In American By Only 1 1/2

By FRED DE LUCA
INS Sports Writer

Critics call them a farm team, but today the Kansas City "Yanks" are second in the American League only to the real thing.

Made the butt of jokes for repeatedly trading with New York for young but green players, the Missouri A's adopted a "show you" attitude and are enjoying their laugh now.

Kansas City has second place all to itself, trailing the real Yankees by 1 1/2 games.

Meanwhile, the team touted as the Yankees' toughest opposition, the Chicago White Sox and Boston, are reposing in seventh and eighth places respectively, 3 1/2 and five games off the pace after only one week of championship play.

Later-Inning Lightning Hits

The A's used an old Yankee weapon—later-inning lightning—to by, which launches the series on May 3, five times, and has six victories in both the Preakness and Belmont. The latter will be run on June 7.

Ross and Klipsch's crowd-pleasing Silky Sullivan, who confined his weekend activity to training at Churchill Downs in Louisville, is now quoted as a 3-to-1 third choice. He was third in his last start on April 11 at Golden Gate Fields.

Chlaiborne Farm's Nadir, which was beaten a half length Friday, as Tim Tam set a mark of 1:22 1/5 for seven furlongs, is listed at 8-to-1 to round out the top quartet of Triple Crown hopefuls.

Boncriss Farm's Backbone, winner of the $20,000 Chesapeake at Laurel Saturday, another event which has been a good preview for the Triple Crown, is eligible only for the Preakness and thus was not listed in the latest calling.

Montpelier Stable's Nala, which finished second in the Chesapeake, is in just the Derby and Preakness.

Peter Graffagnino's Nouredin, second to Jewel's Reward in the Wood, also was not given a price since he is eligible only for the Kentucky Derby.

Other Triple Crown candidates quoted at 15-to-1 are Merrick Stable's Wing Jet, fourth to Jewel's Reward in the Wood, Llangollen Farm's Gene Fishin', conqueror of Silky Sullivan in his last race, and George Lewis' Martin's Rullah, third in the Wood.

CHAMP'S JUDGE FIGHTS HERE—These two men, both well known in Maryland amateur athletics, served as judges here last Saturday for the opening of the State Novice Boxing Championships. Joseph Harris (standing) served a number of years as chairman of the South Atlantic Association of the AAU and was a member of a three-man team that won the national walking championship. He is also a former marathon runner. Seated is Phil Jachelski, national walking champ from 1932 through 1936. Phil finished seventh in the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles and is in his seventh year as national chairman of race walking for the AAU. He was also named a member of the International Panel of Judges and Commission during the recent Olympic games in Melbourne, Australia. Jachelski, who won the heavyweight boxing championship of the South Pacific while serving in the Marines during World War II, may go to Russia later this year with a United States track and field team. Harris will be back here this coming Saturday as a judge when the novice finals are held at 38 North Mechanic Street. Nine championships will be decided.

Auburn Faces Bleak Future In Athletics

Another Three-Year Slap Put On School By NCAA

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Stunned Auburn, shackled with another three-year probation sentence for football recruiting violations, today faced prospects of a bleak athletic future with teams all dressed up in success and nowhere to go.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) slapped the three-year ban—one of the severest in the group's history—at a meeting yesterday and dealt Seattle University and Southern Methodist lesser penalties. Seattle drew probation for two years and Southern Methodist was given a less stringent one-year term.

Auburn, No. 1 football team in the nation last year and rated a prime contender for national honors again next fall, was about to complete a three-year probation and any period when the hammer fell again. The action yesterday covers all Auburn athletic teams and renders them ineligible for NCAA title events as well as mid-season and post-season tournaments until Sept. 1, 1961.

Seattle's basketball teams are ineligible for NCAA events, mid-season and post-season games until Sept. 1, 1960. The probation given SMU does not bar the Mustangs from bowl games and other tournaments, but the school's athletic program and practices will be under close scrutiny until Sept. 1, 1959.

John Castellani, Seattle basketball coach and athletic director, resigned after the NCAA action was announced, but he denied any pressure was applied on him to quit because of the probation.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the discipline given Auburn was the third toughest penalty ever administered by the group. Only the four-year probation given North Carolina State complete a three-year probation and any period when the hammer fell again.

The Auburn case, Byers said, involved a prospective student-athlete being offered "illicit financial aid" for the benefit of himself and his family.

Byers refused to identify the player involved, but the Birmingham News identified him as Don King at 6 p. m.

Although the probation bars Auburn from appearing on the national football television series, its televised game with Tennessee next Sept. 27 will go on as scheduled since the contract was signed earlier.

Byers said the Seattle case involved the head coach offering two prospective athletes financial aid. One of the players, he said, was offered $80 per month and the other $200 monthly "although no actual cash exchanged hands." The players were not identified.

House Seems At Home In Kansas City

By International News Service

Frank House, just a country boy from Alabama, never could get started in the big city of Detroit, but he seems more at home in the friendly confines of Kansas City.

House, now 28, was one of the original bonus babies when he signed with the Tigers. But he got off on the wrong foot as a kid in Briggs Stadium, perhaps due in part to the resentment felt by some players about the fat bonus he received.

The very promising catcher from Bessemer, Ala., never did blossom with Detroit in all his seasons from 1950 through 1957. Detroit gave up on him when he produced a .259 batting average last year.

During the winter, House was thrown in on a huge trade Detroit swung with Kansas City.

Yesterday House paid the first dividend to the A's on that trade.

The 6-foot-2, 190-pounder came up in the eighth inning with the bases loaded and slugged a grand-slam homer to climax an eight-run inning. The outburst gave Kansas City a 9-to-4 win over Cleveland and kept the A's in second place.

House, who swings from the left side of the plate, missed the 1952 and 1953 seasons when he was in the service.

Flying Saucers Roloffs On Tap

It will be the Black Widows against the Piper Cubs and Thunderbolts against Mustangs in the opening matches of the Flying Saucers Bowling League this week.

In final regular-season action, the front-running Black Widows shut out Flying Forts, Mustangs topped Thunderbolts twice and Jetts won over Piper Cubs by 2-1.

Leading scorers were Les Brinkman, 179-478, Jetts; Jack Clauson, 139-384, Piper Cubs; Carl Grabowski, 166-458, Flying Forts; Kay Leitchy, 172-439, Black Widows; Hazel Diehl, 168 and Bill Hunt, 447, Mustangs.

Final standings:

Chicubs, Off To Usual Fast Start, Head For Punch Bowl

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs, on their usual fast spring run, lead the National League tour into the promised land that lies behind the short screen in the Los Angeles Coliseum tonight.

Thus far, three games have been played in the Punch Bowl with the Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco Giants and San Francisco Giants.

Jim Hearn was the loser as the third of four Philie pitchers who have fallen behind the 42-foot-high, 140-foot-long screen jokingly referred to as a barrier.

Now come the other six clubs, the outsiders, to shoot at it with Ernie Banks, the Cubs' right-handed power man, all warmed up after hitting his first two home runs of the season over the weekend in Chicago.

As a jolt before the storm, the only game played last night in the National League was homerless. The Cincinnati Redlegs beat Philadelphia 4-2 in a rain-interrupted 14 innings.

A walk and singles by Don Hoak and pinchhitter Bob Thurman broke up a 2-2 tie for the Redlegs in the 14th and they added a cushion run on a pair of errors by Philly shortstop Roy Smalley.

Hal Jeffcoat won his first in relief of rookie Bob Kelly and Tom Acker. Kelly faced only four men, and gave up a run. Acker then allowed just one run on four hits, and six walks, while striking out six, before giving way to Jeffcoat.

Auto Drivers To Meet

A meeting for owners and drivers of stock cars planning to participate in Potomac Valley Speedway competition this year will be held next Monday, 8 p. m., at the Fort Ashby track. The season will open Sunday, May 4.

Pastrano Given Offer To Fight Italy's Cavicchi

LEICESTER, England (AP) — American heavyweight Willie Pastrano may go back to fight in the land of his ancestors.

Italian promoter Bruno Amaduzzi from Bologna saw the 22-year-old from New Orleans easily outpoint Jamaica's Joe Bygraves in a 10-round last night.

The Italian was so impressed he went straight to Pastrano's dressing room and offered Willie, who is of Italian descent, a contest with Italy's Francesco Cavicchi, former European heavyweight champion.

"I would love to go," Pastrano said. "I have never been to Italy, although that's where my grandfather came from 103 years ago."

Pastrano, third ranked contender for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's title, showed plenty of skill in beating Bygraves. He mastered his man after the sixth round with classic left hand leads that gave him a big point margin. The Jamaican outwitted him 205 1/2 to 188.

38 WVU Frosh Work In Spring Football Drills

MORGANTOWN (AP) — More than half of the players on the West Virginia University spring football roster are sophomores-to-be.

The roster, announced today, includes the names of 38 freshmen out of a total of 65. The remainder of the squad is made up of 11 players who will be juniors next fall and 16 who will be seniors.

Coach Art Lewis called it the least experienced squad he has had to work with since 1951.

Only four regulars and 15 lettermen return. The regulars are ends Bruce McClung and Terry Fairbanks, tackle Bill Trozzo and half-back Ray Peterson.

Seven men are back from the alternate unit: tackle Jim Hillen, guard Ed Sommer, center Chuck Billak, quarterback Dick Longfellow, halfbacks Bill McClure and Dave Rider and fullback Glen Shamblin.

Thirty-four of the men on the spring roster come from inside the state. Pennsylvania produced another 23 and Ohio four. There is one each from Virginia, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Frogs Win Rolloff In Railway Play

The Frogs won the rolloff championship of the Western Maryland Railway Bowling League, defeating the Streamliners by 97 pins.

The Dispatchers, defeated by the Frogs in the semifinals, won the regular-season title.

Comprising the Frogs were Wilda Parsons, Tom Coberly, Doris Derryberry, Mel Dawson, Thelma Diehl and Jack Shriver, captain. Members of the runner-up were Roe Steinger, Gene Suder, Billy Robertson, Jack Krampf, Dale Mull and Jack Barmoy, captain.

A dinner and dance for league bowlers will be held May 16.

Redl To Head For Germany And Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Stefan Redl, a Hungarian by way of Passaic, N.J., by way of the U.S. Army, is heading for Germany next month for three fights, some fat purses and with a heavy heart.

"I'd give anything if I could fight Gale Kerwin again," said Redl today. "But I don't seem to be able to get him or anyone else."

Redl, a good journeyman welterweight, licked Charlie Cummings of Philadelphia in the feature 10 at St. Nicholas Arena last night—in his usual journeyman fashion. Redl wasn't overly impressive, but he won the duke easily.

"Kerwin has the only decision of my career over me," continued Redl, "and of course, I'd like to meet him again before I fight anyone else."

That's understandable. The decision Kerwin won was a split one in Madison Square Garden and a lot of ringers thought Redl won it.

"I don't know why I can't seem to get another fight in the Garden," said Redl. "I'd be willing to fight any of the welters.—Tony DeMarco, Gil Turner, Gaspar Ortega. But they keep saying they can't get a date or give me all sorts of other excuses."

So he's heading for Europe where he'll fight Gerhard Muller May 31, Ernest Zetzman June 7 and Gunther Hase July 4. The last will be for the German Welterweight title.

Barlow Wins Third In Row

Bink Barlow, Polomac State southpaw, was a one-man gang yesterday at Morgantown as he pitched and batted the Catamounts to an 11-4 victory over West Virginia University Freshmen in a game cut to five innings by rain.

In posting his third straight victory, the lefthander from Cheltenham, Pa. held the Little Mountaineers to six singles and struck out six while giving up only two walks. The Catamounts gave Barlow a working cushion when they tallied four runs in the second and five in the third to overcome a 3-0 first-inning WVU lead.

Barlow batted in two runs, belting a double and triple in two trips. Skip Dellagatti had three RBIs for the Cats and Dick Wickline batted in two. The victory was the fourth against three losses for John Fox's PS nine.

Dodgers Playing Like They Want To Remain 'Bums'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles baseball writers have decided the Dodgers won't be called the Bums any more. But the Dodgers are behaving as though they want the name back.

This behavior pattern was noted yesterday in remarks by Mr. Walter O'Malley, president of what is now the seventh-place team in the National League. Said he:

"I was elated with the attendance (at the first series here). I think it probably set a three-day record."

More than 167,000 fans turned out for the first three Dodger-Giant games here. That was about 40,000 more than saw the first six games between the Dodgers and Giants back East in 1957.

"But," O'Malley continued, "what really got me was the tremendous showing of adoption by the fans. It seemed that fully half the men were wearing Dodger caps . . . What's more, they were noisy, and they stayed."

"Now, we've got to make ourselves worthy of that welcome. Let's face it. The boys played bad ball. But they'll get started."

Tonight's schedule has Wichita at Omaha, Charleston at St. Paul, Louisville at Minneapolis, and Indianapolis at Denver.

Spider Takes Batting Lead

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Tommy Gravins, Virginia's sophomore infield star from Richmond, has replaced N.C. State's Dick Hunter as the Atlantic Coast Conference batting leader.

Based on last week's performance chart, Gravins boasts an average of .458 with more than half his team's scheduled games still to be played.

Hunter, who had an even .500 average last week, has dropped to .410 after going three for 13 last week. Gravins, meantime, collected seven hits in 14 times at bat.

Andy McDonald, Maryland's senior third baseman, is the No. 3 batter at .400 and a close fourth is Rex McMillan of Wake Forest at .395.

Wake Forest's Jack Phillips, though only a .277 batter, tops the conference in runs batted in with 13 and is tied with Clemson's Bud Spiers in home runs each with four. Spiers is batting .276.

In the pitching department, Harold Stowe of Clemson continues to lead with a 6-0 record. The best earned run average belongs to Hal Gilbert of N.C. State, who has a 2-0 record and a era of 1.53. Stowe's ERA is 2.14.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, April 23, 1958:

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries): Your Mars in fine position; Jupiter, Mercury also favorable in aspect. This can be a rewarding day for sincere work, intelligent management. Don't be too exacting, selfish. Let your good traits prevail.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus): Stimulating rays from Mercury and Jupiter encourage mental alertness, message advancement, profits in well-handled finances.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini): Splendid influences. Plan day's activities to get the most out of your efforts. Clever work, sound investments, handling things or use to the public should yield rewards.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer): Hold firmly to the emotional level you not see as clearly, calmly as you should. Mixed vibrations. You may have difficulty with some things and unusual luck with others. Watch all things well selected.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo): Your Sun's aspect suggests that you hold a tight rein on your emotions and keep a steady hand. You may have some difficulties with work problems. However, days like this often prove highly beneficial in the long run.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo): Good influences. Earned rewards, recognition for services to family, community. Keep your principles and in your talents.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra): You may have to put forth special efforts to do a good job now. But it will pay. You will be rewarded in some way and in good time.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio): Excellent Mars rays, but Saturn (strong in your natal chart) stresses extra care with dangerous foods, machinery. You may be reckless. A good day if you help to make it so.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius): Jupiter, well aspected, promises a fine day. Whatever your tasks and the demands of your position, they are favored.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn): Saturn's position now stresses a need for sensible caution, carefulness in all things. Mental tasks and good management are favored, however.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius): Plan your schedule wisely, eliminating acts that could clutter up the whole day and prevent you from getting down to urgent, essential business. Take first things first, then ease up.

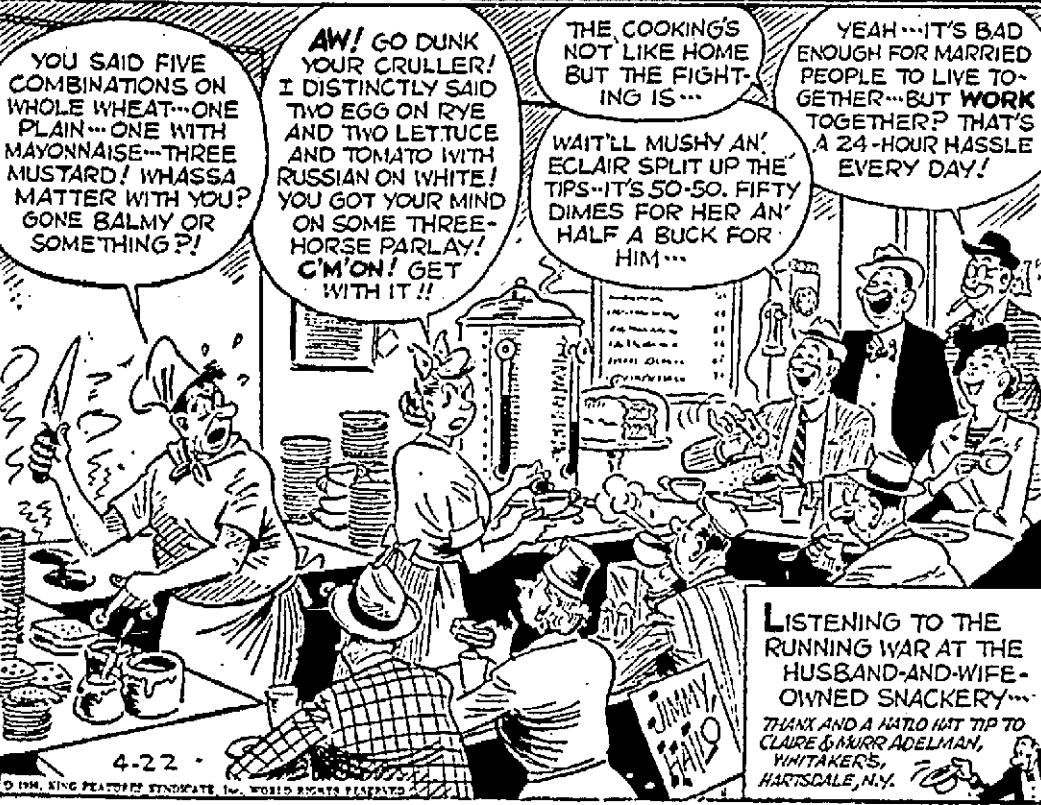

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces): Hold firmly to well made plans and decisions lest you may uprise changes. You turn this day into a progressive and constructive one through good management.

FOR BORN TODAY are of Taurus, the Sign of the strong yet gentle, honorable, likeable, dependable and highly intelligent. All well aspected, builders, scientists, inventors, teachers, writers and singers were born in your Sign. Venus is your planet and Venus rules the throat. It is wise for Taurus to give extra care to the throat and avoid colds, infections, etc. This does not mean to worry about these things, but be wisely careful. Many noted opera singers and orators are Taurus. Don't let yourself become easily discouraged and don't overindulge in foods, beverages. You are noted gourmet, so beware. Birthdate: James Buchanan 15th U. S. President; William Shakespeare, poet, playwright; actor: J. M. W. Turner, English painter.

South Counts To Win 'Jack' Pot

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North's four club bid was the Gerber convention which is used by most experts to ask for aces after an opening no-trump. South's four spades showed two aces. North's subsequent five-club bid asked for kings and when South showed the missing king North decided to gamble on the grand slam.

Opening lead—♠ 8

While the combined hands held only 35 points, the grand slam bid was a very good one. South won the opening club lead and noted that he had 12 tricks off the top and could produce the 13th in either spades or diamonds. Should diamonds break 3-3 or spades 3-2 there would be no trouble. With spades breaking 5-0 the jack would be located on the first lead. With spades 4-1 and diamonds 4-2 there would be an automatic squeeze if either opponent were long in both suits and finally there should be a good chance to find which opponent would hold four spades in which case the finesse would work.

In any event a couple of club leads would do no harm and when East showed out on the second club South had located five West cards. Now South played three rounds of diamonds and when East showed out of that suit also South had accounted for nine of West's cards.

Both top hearts were played next and when West followed to them also he had shown 11 cards in diamonds, hearts and clubs. Hence, West could not possibly hold four spades, but East might. South took his king of spades, led a second spade to dummy's ace and after West showed out there was a proven finesse against East's jack.

Q—The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?
You, South, hold:

What do you do?
A—Bid three no-trump. You have no diamond stopper but you do have four diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues with a bid of four diamonds. What do you do now?
